Thank you for your interest in supporting the Foundation!

BSCRF research cannot be funded by federal grants-in-aid because of the U.S. funding moratorium. However, the tax-exempt status granted to qualified public charities highlights the U.S. Government's belief that taxpayers have the right to directly support activities they feel are important.

Your contribution could help everyone you know.

Stem cell therapy holds the promise of providing cures for Alzheimer's disease, diabetes, spinal cord injury, heart failure, Parkinson's disease, cancer, AIDS, osteoarthritis and many blood disorders. BSCRF has lower operating costs than larger teaching and medical institutions. For this reason, funds are utilized more efficiently, and more research results from each donation.
